

Tips for Supporting Your Middle School Reader:

- Ask, “What are you reading?”, “What do you like about your book?”, or “What are you learning?”
- Find a second copy of the book and read it along side them. (ask me!)
- Visit the public library or McKay’s together and browse.
- Talk about your favorite books growing up.
- Check in about reading homework progress- 20 minutes per night minimum.
- Let your child see YOU reading!
- Play games like Pictionary, Scrabble, Charades, and Headbanz to build vocabulary.
- Listen to audiobooks in the car. Many are available for free download from the public library!

Tips for Supporting Your Middle School Reader:

- Ask, “What are you reading?”, “What do you like about your book?”, or “What are you learning?”
- Find a second copy of the book and read it along side them. (ask me!)
- Visit the public library or McKay’s together and browse.
- Talk about your favorite books growing up.
- Check in about reading homework progress- 20 minutes per night minimum.
- Let your child see YOU reading!
- Play games like Pictionary, Scrabble, Charades, and Headbanz to build vocabulary.
- Listen to audiobooks in the car. Many are available for free download from the public library!

